In the Wake of the Game By GUS MALBERT

All of the fight hasn't left the Colts; by any means. They put up a game and winning battle behind Doctor Yancey Wyatt Ayers yesterday, taking the second of the series with Portsmouth, and establishing better claim to the runnerup position in the league race. Roanoke was accommodating enough to scant majority.

Under present conditions, with half the team on the hospital list, Manager Griffin should be eminently pleased with what his men are doing. The game yesterday points a moral, as well as Hedgepeth report to the Washington Charlest Charlest Conditions of the Charlest Charles adding a needed victory; any team can muster an attack when working bearing good pitching. The weakness lies in the fact that there is had some as the Virginia League season ends.

GRAYS ARE CONCEDED CHAMPIONSHIP OF CITY

The Richmond Grays, winners of the pennant in the Capital City League, are the undisputed champions of the city. Yesterday the Tylers and Kahns, battlers for supremacy in the Old Dominion League, played a thirteen-inning tie, which leaves the race in the Class "A" organization still undecided. One more game must be played.

If Kahns win, the race is tied; should Tylers win, it is over; but, foreseeing the possibility of a tie, with games extending into next week, and realizing that the Grays have the better team, both Manager Perkins, of Tylers, and Manager Clements, of Kahns, have conceded the championship to the Grays, without playing a post-season series.

This relieves the commission of considerable embarrassment. Representatives from the Washington commission are expected here to-day or to-morrow to make arrangements for the intercity

For many reasons it is desirable to play the first doubleheader in this series in Washington Labor Day. If it were impossible to play on that date, the series would have to be postponed until October 7, as the Washington American League team is at home until the beginning of the world's series.

With the championship of the city decided, the two committees can meet, adopt rules and dates and complete all arrangements.
